Main areas of practice

Frances is a personal injury specialist and has extensive experience in representing insurers in CTP, workers compensation, public and product liability claims. Frances manages large volume litigation and specialises in claims involving issues of indemnity, liability and quantum including major and catastrophic claims.

Experience

Frances has 20 years experience working in law and has been working with TLlawyers for the past 8 years specialising in CTP work.

Prior to joining TLlawyers, Frances worked as in-house counsel for an IT company, involving employment and industrial relations law, commercial contracts, intellectual property, risk management, Occupational Health and Safety Act and the Workers Compensation Act.

Prior to that, Frances gained 15 years experience in personal injury law, initially working as a law clerk and then a lawyer in Sydney law firms including Stewart Cuddy and Mockler and Coleman and Greig where she managed portfolios representing insurers in personal injury claims.

Frances adopts a collaborative approach with her clients and strives to achieve early resolution of claims. She has developed strong client relationships and is highly regarded in the industry.

Frances has represented the following clients during her career:
